T&W has truly been a valued partner with us to make our new church facility a reality. As a new church plant, we had no idea how to go about designing or building a new facility. T&W brought expertise in design, construction, and oversight that made the construction of our first facility a reality. Throughout the entire process, all members of the T&W team were professional, helpful, and very attentive to us. They delivered our project on time and within budget, which is particularly noteworthy as this project was completed in the midst of a global pandemic that disrupted global markets and supply chains. We will have no hesitation about working with T&W in the future.
